Book Description (formally called "Annotation"):

Starting with a Holy Spirit encounter about the Old Testament saint, Enoch, author Chris Carter shares the encouraging - even astounding - news about the limitless access we have into God's presence and glory. Through teachings, experiences, dreams, and visions, the author reveals how the Lord's goodness and His glory are going to transform our apathetic Christian experience and prepare us for Jesus' return. Despite the opposition of demonic powers and a complacent life, the Holy Spirit will bring us into an intimacy with the Godhead that leads us down the same path as Enoch.

Author Bio: Christopher Paul Carter

Christopher Paul Carter was born in Houston, Texas and spent most of his formative years in the Carolinas and Pennsylvania. Having a passion for science, he went to college in Charleston, South Carolina and after graduating college with a degree in Physics, Christopher pioneered missionary work in America and Europe and aided a church plant in that city. After relocating to Columbia, SC, Christopher and his wife started overseeing a congregation and working with a network of other ministries to promote unity and cooperation before beginning Dwelling Place Ministries. He travels and ministers throughout the U.S. and Europe.
